

THE YORKTOWN

FOR OVER 300 years—the traditional farm house of the Tidewater area of Maryland and Virginia has been a classic in elemental design. The straightforward simplicity and balance say, "Home" for your family. The architects, Patterson and Worland, A.I.A., have created this completely new design with a wedded balance of formality and informality. Here is the space you have been looking for. Each room is designed for its purpose—with space to spare. From the graciously sized owner's suite to the banquet sized dining room, you have space for family and guests—study or snooze, chat or chess, rumpus or rest. The family room is the hub of a wheel of family good fortune for year-round living: it's near the entrance foyer for ease of circulation and access—it's next to the family dining room, providing a private area for family living, it's near the kitchen for family snacks or entertainment of guests—and it's the ideal place on a crisp winter's night to toast your feet to the warmth of the fireplace. Please Note: Many families prefer to make use of the inexpensive basement garage alternate when they have an opportunity to place THE YORKTOWN on a hillside lot.
